

The departments of economics of the University of Bergen and the Norwegian School of Economics organize a

One day PhD workshop

on

Monday May 21, 2012 (10am-6pm)

The aim of this workshop is to give PhD students the opportunity to present their work and to get acquainted with fellow PhD students from Norway and faculty in Bergen. It consists of paper presentations followed by prepared discussions by fellow PhD students.

The workshop includes a plenum lecture by

Professor Harald Uhlig (Chicago)

on the topic

Economics and Reality

The workshop takes place at NHH in Bergen. It is sponsored by the Norwegian Research Council's fund for promoting doctoral education in economics. Part of the funding is reserved for travel and accommodation expenses of PhD students from outside Bergen.

Submissions should be made by Monday, April 2, 2012.

For further information about submissions and grant applications, see www.nhh.no/phd-workshop.

On May 22-24, Harald Uhlig will teach an intensive PhD course on Financial markets and the macroeconomy. For further details about this course, follow the link provided at www.nhh.no/phd-workshop.

Organizing committee: Astrid Kunze (astrid.kunze@nhh.no), Fred Schroyen (fred.schroyen@nhh.no) and Sigve Tjøtta (sigve.tjotta@econ.uib.no). For info on the PhD course: Gernot Doppelhofer (gernot.doppelhofer@nhh.no).
